After a review of your file, it has been determined that you no longer meet the requirements for an Electronic Travel Authorization (eTA). As a result, your eTA has been refused and you no longer hold a valid eTA. As such, you should not travel to Canada by air, as you may experience delays or be prevented from boarding your flight and/or entering Canada. Your file is now closed, you may submit a new application at www.canada.ca/eTA Your eTA has been refused for the following reason(s):

- I am not satisfied that you have truthfully answered all questions asked of you.

To get help with understanding your temporary resident application refusal and what you can do next, visit: <https://ircc.canada.ca/visit-visiter/en/refusal-visa-application> .

Next Steps:

If you decide to apply again, know that:

- your new application will be assessed on its own merits,
- you must resubmit a new application and all relevant supporting documents and pay a new temporary resident application fee, and
- your new application may be refused unless it is supported by new or different information that would satisfy the officer that you meet all application requirements.
